SUBURBAN FINEST UNDERPAID, MANY TAKE ON OUTSIDE JOBS; COMMISSIONERS IN QUANDARY

Lower Merion Township's police force, once rated the finest of any suburb in the country, is being depleted because police salaries do not cover today's living costs. The force is not only undermanned, but many of the men are in desperate financial straits. So much so that they are piling up personal debts and being forced into taking outside jobs in their off-duty hours.

Their plight came to the fore last Wednesday night when a petition, signed by all but three members of the force, was presented to the Lower Merion commissioners, asking for a flat $500-a-year raise for each man. The best that the commissioners could promise them was that they would take it under advisement until they prepare next year's budget in January.

To grant the raise would also place the Township's governing board in a financial predicament. It is unlikely that the commissioners would vote the police a raise without including the other township employees.

Including three new patrolmen accepted last Wednesday night, the force of patrolmen, officers and detectives, numbers 109, while with

Merion Post Will Hear Hugh Scott On December 4th

Phila. Congressman to Discuss Foreign Aid and the Red Menace

Congressman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., of the sixth congressional district, will address the members of the Merion Post, American Legion, at the meeting Thursday evening, Dec. 4, in the Post Home.

Scott, recently returned from a world tour covering nineteen foreign lands, will discuss "Foreign Relief vs. Communism."

Because the special session of Congress requires the presence of Congressman Scott in Washington on voting days, the meeting day of the Merion Post has been advanced from Tuesday to Thursday on this occasion.

Scott, a Republican, was graduated from Randolph-Macon and the University of Virginia, and attended the University of Pennsylvania Law School. He has been a member of the law firm of White and Williams since 1922.

The congressman served as a Commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve during World War 2, and participated in the occupation of Japan from the date of surrender. He has been a member of the Merchant Marine and the Interstate and Foreign Commerce committees in the House of Representatives. During his most recent trip abroad he was able to give more complete consideration to the problems of foreign relief because of his fluency in several languages.

Past Commander J. Paul Erwin has accepted the post of Ninth District Deputy Commander, recently extended to him by his fellow Darlington alumni, District Commander Herbert Walker.

New members admitted to Merion Post at the November executive board meeting include:

James C. Bowen, Jr., of Merion Gardens, Merion, a student at Temple University; C. Harvey Buek, 1140 Maplecrest Circle, Gladwyne; Oscar D. Howard, 218 Harrowgate Rd., Penn Wynne; George M. Grow, 638 Bowman Ave., Merion, and Robert H. Luff, Beechwood Apartments, Narberth.

Arthur C. Kaufmann, of Ardmore, was reappointed to the State Housing Board by Governor Duff, this week.

Red Feather Drive Gains

Thanksgiving Appeal Made by Chairman

The Main Line from Overbrook through Ardmore has raised 68 percent of its Community Chest quota of $112,037, according to figures reported last Thursday.

As of the same date, the districts from Haverford through Villanova had raised 71 percent of a $93,045 quota, and Bala-Cynwyd 59.4 percent of its $19,700 quota.

Local leaders this week urged persons who have not been called upon by solicitors to call one of the following numbers and ask to have Red Feather pledges or contributions picked up:

Daytime: Ardmore 7514, Bryn Mawr 3374 or Bryn Mawr 2184.

Evening: Cynwyd 0268, Ardmore 7135 or Berwyn 4572.

"Let us use this opportunity," E. A. Roberts, general chairman, said yesterday, "to express a real, personal thanksgiving by helping those in our own neighborhood who are in less fortunate circumstances."

Local agencies which will be aided by Community Chest contributions include the Community Health and Civic Association, the Family Service Agency of the Main Line Federation of Churches and the Bala-Cynwyd Social Service League.

R. S. DUNNE ASKS COUNCIL TO BUILD LOCAL BUSINESS WITH NEW PHILOSOPHY

Ralph S. Dunne Monday night outlined to the Narberth Business Council a new philosophy on which to build business locally.

"We must learn to build our businesses in terms of answering human needs, so that customers can say 'those are nice people to deal with'; then it follows that the entire community is referred to as a nice place in which to trade," he told the overflow crowd at the second floor of the Arcadia Club Restaurant.

"We have come through three very trying periods," he continued; "the depression, the war and the aftermath of the war. Unfortunately, this has left us with a tendency to think in terms of high pressure salesmanship, heavy advertising campaigns, constant plugging. Fundamentally, what we must get back to is the concept of doing common things uncommonly well."

Thoughtfulness in small things, the speaker pointed out, often means the difference between just doing a thing right—and doing it right and being popular.

"Everyone likes to be loved, to be important, to be popular," he continued. "You can make him feel this in a multitude of little ways. We can follow the precept of Kenneth Goud, 'Find out what the people like, and do more of it; find out what they don't like, and do less of it! Advertising should be more than a mere effort to sell goods—it should be a genuine effort to help the public get the best for its money. See that all the small details of every transaction are handled to the satisfaction of

Parking Space in Suburban Square To Be Expanded

Zoning Board Granted Request of Suburban Company Thursday

A request for permanent parking in Suburban Square's present parking area at 80 Montgomery Ave., Ardmore, was granted by the Suburban Company by the Lower Merion Township Board of Zoning Adjustment Thursday night.

The board also granted a request to extend the parking privileges to the next lot at 100 Montgomery Ave. Both lots are partly zoned R-5 residential and partly commercial.

Fred Dreher, president of the Suburban Company, who presented the case, said that the present lot would handle 200 cars at a time, and that with the extension the parking capacity would be increased to 250 cars.

Julius Zieget, a member of the adjustment board, pointed out that an exit onto Montgomery Ave. might cause a traffic hazard, and suggested that Lower Merion Township police and the Planning Commission be consulted as to the best place for an exit.

Captain George Vandevuur, of the Lower Merion police, said yesterday that he had suggested to the Planning Commission that the exit be placed opposite Glenn Rd. The commission has not yet met to discuss the matter.

Funeral Services Held For Miss Alice L. Stewart

Funeral services for Miss Alice L. Stewart, aunt of Robert Fraser, of 518 Sussex Rd., Wynnewood, were held Monday at 2 P. M. from the Oliver H. Bair Funeral Home, 1820 Chestnut St., Philadelphia. She died November 21 at the age of 83.

A native of Edinburg, Scotland, Miss Stewart came to this country in 1906. She had been a resident of Wynnewood since 1922.

Besides her nephew, Miss Stewart is survived by a niece, Mrs. Henry Harper, of 236 Cheswood Lane, Haverford.

Electric Co. Objects to Order

Charges Imposition Unconstitutional

Following an order by the State Public Utility Commission which suspended the Philadelphia Electric Company's proposed increase of gas rates for suburban consumers, the electric company charged last week that the imposition of any temporary rates lower than those proposed would violate its rights under State and Federal constitutions.

The commission handed down their order after the electric company applied for approval of the higher rates which would have become effective November 15. The commission suspended the new rate schedule for six months pending the outcome of an investigation into "the fairness, justness, reasonableness and lawfulness" of the higher rates.

The Philadelphia Electric Company's answer, signed by H. B. Bryans, president of the company, charged that the suspension order and the imposition of any temporary rates lower than those proposed would be erroneous in law and lacking in evidence, and would violate its rights under the constitution.

The State Commission recently disclosed the receipt of another formal complaint against the new rates from Upper Darby Township. In its complaint, Upper Darby demanded that the company be made to justify its application for a rate increase.

The proposed increase would add about $1,000,000 annually to the gas bills of consumers in Montgomery, Delaware, Bucks and Chester Counties.

Lower Merion High Gridders Conclude Unbeaten Season

Action in Lower Merion-Radnor Classic

Ardmore Aces Rout Radnor, 27-0, for 10th in Row

LEN SHEPARD, AL ADAMS STAR

By JACK FORD
Sports Editor

The number 13 jinx didn't catch up with Lower Merion High's all-conquering football team and the Ardmore Aces overwhelmed a scrappy but outmanned Radnor High eleven to score a 27-0 triumph in their 51st annual game Saturday afternoon.

More than 10,000 spectators ringed the vast Villanova College stadium as Lower Merion scored its 10th straight victory to complete its first unbeaten season since 1943. The win enabled Coach Dick Mattis' machine to lengthen its two-year victory streak to 13.

Radnor, hopelessly outclassed as Lower Merion clinched Suburban Big Six and mythical Suburban Conference crowns, has won 20 games in the series, one of the oldest unbroken schoolboy grid rivalries in the country. Lower Merion has won 22, with nine games ending in ties.

With the win, Lower Merion tucked away the game trophy, a bronzed, mounted football donated by graduates of both schools. The ball was used in the 50th annual game, which Lower Merion won last year, 51-7.

Leading the assault against Radnor were Len Shepard, a senior, and Al Adams, fullback. Shepard, who earned All-Scholastic honors last year and appears to be in line for similar recognition this season, scored two touchdowns and Adams racked up two more.

Adams sent the Mattis men away to a flying start in the first period when he topped off a 60-yard sustained drive by smashing over from the Radnor five-yard line. Lending a hand in that advance were Tommy Davis, Harry Barton and Shepard.

Adams' first score followed an earlier thrust by Shepard, who ran 25 yards to the goal line, only to have the play nullified because of a back-in-motion penalty. That sprint by the fleet, elusive Shepard was enough to give both L. M. and Radnor rooters some indication of things to come.

Soon after Adams' scoring smash, Davis intercepted a Radnor aerial on the 30 and sprinted to the Red Raiders' 23. On the first play the agile Adams, behind scythe-like blocking, went all the way to his second six-pointer. Don Shaver, who had missed on his first attempt, placekicked the point as Lower Merion assumed a 13-0 lead.

In the second period, the irrepressible Shepard again broke loose and shaking off Radnor tacklers as though greased, fled 60 yards down the sidelines for another touchdown. Shaver again converted.

The Ardmore Aces continued to pour it on in the third period, marching 46 yards for their final touchdown. Bob DiMarco's interception.

Bryn-Mawr Company Yields to Musicians Edict To Salvage Plans for 5-County Firemen's Parade

The Bryn Mawr Fire Company, according to Joseph Hartman, parade chairman, disclosed yesterday that the union ultimatum was issued last Sunday to Joseph B. Allen, Jr., president of the Bryn Mawr Company, by J. Wharton Gootee, president of the Chester Local No. 484, Musicians Protective Union, American Federation of Musicians. Gootee, the spokesman, said, called Allen on the telephone.

Gootee was also charged with the statement that the union would prevent the Bryn Mawr company from ever being able to hire a union band in the future and would further blacklist the Ridley Township band and keep it from ever being able to be hired as a band, if the union edict were ignored.

Gootee was in New York yesterday and could not be reached for a statement.

The Bryn Mawr spokesman said he understood the union order came from New York headquarters and that all locals of the union in Reading, Pottstown and Quakertown, as well as in Norristown, had been notified.

The local firemen said they had surrendered to the union's edict under protest and "only because of the tremendous amount of money which has been spent on the parade."

"Work on the parade has been going on since June," they explained, "and more than $50,000 has been spent so far. We did not want to do anything to jeopardize the parade's success. If the union bands were withdrawn, it would cripple the whole affair."

The Bryn Mawr spokesman declined to reveal the name of the band hired to replace the Ridley Park students, other than to say that it is a professional band with 20 to 25 years experience.

Parade committee members in the Bryn Mawr company include, besides Allen, H. W. Parsons, fire chief; Harry Grow, assistant fire chief; Captain J. A. Ellinger and Philip Minnis.

13 New Members Elected to Board

Annual Meeting of Merion Association Held Last Tuesday

Thirteen men were named to the board of directors of the Merion Civic Association at a meeting held last Tuesday night.

The slate, presented by Thomas Shallock, chairman of nominations, was unanimously received by the Association. The new directors include J. Walter Keller, Henry Steiragow, Clifford Frishmuth, William D. Sherrard, Jr., Maurice P. O'Neill, Allen B. Coffman, H. W. Haydock, Ralph F. Moss, Dr. Joseph Fort Newton, David S. Sold, L. Clifford Davidson, Jr., Richard H. Shryock and Victor E. Rehr.

Mrs. Percy Matthes, secretary of the Association for the past 28 years, who resigned several weeks ago, was honored by the group with the presentation of an illuminated copy of a resolution of appreciation passed by the board and a gift from the members. Her place will be taken by Mrs. Robert H. Wilkinson.

Projects completed last year by the Association were outlined by Henry R. Halliwell, president of the group. They included:

Changing the zoning in two large areas from R-2 to R-1A requiring a large plot of ground for new construction; maintenance of distinctive street lighting; promotion of attractive landscaping; planning for a park that will become a bird sanctuary; the acceptance by the Township of several private roads; checking adequate public transportation.

A report of a road plan of Halliwell's which plotted an extension of the Valley Forge Parkway along a proposed Schuylkill River Parkway, was also read at the meeting.

Halliwell also read a statement to the effect that the Association was planning to carry the group's fight against Ephraim J. Frankel to the State Supreme Court, and that the case would be due for review this winter.

L. M. Police Help Out as Fire Company Bogs Down

Lower Merion police came to the rescue of the Darby Fire Company, Sunday night, when the company's ambulance broke down. The ambulance, driven by John Graw, was transporting a patient to Bryn Mawr Hospital when it developed engine trouble at Penn St. and Lancaster Pike, Bryn Mawr. A call to Ardmore 4200 brought Patrolman James Wintz and the Lower Merion ambulance. The patient, Rudolf Greenwald, of 1221 Chestnut St., Darby, was admitted, a few minutes later.

Agnes Irwin to Build Addition

Application Made for Tax Exemption

The Agnes Irwin School, exclusive girls' finishing school, will add a new building, housing three school rooms, to its present group of buildings on Clothier Rd., Wynnewood.

Permission to go ahead with plans for the new structure, which will be connected with one of the present buildings by means of a covered corridor, was granted Thursday night at a meeting of the Township Zoning Board.

In the meantime, complying with the State law governing tax exemption, Agnes Irwin has applied to the Board for Assessment and Revision of Taxes, at Norristown, for the tax-exemption applicable to a non-profit organization, such as schools and churches.

Township officials explained that this is a formality, required because such institutions occasionally buy property for other purposes, such as rental or investment, and in that case they are not entitled to exemption. A church which acquired a house adjoining its property might use it for a parish house, in which case it is exempt. But if the house is rented, or used for other purposes, it must pay taxes. In Lower Merion township, which has an assessed valuation of $95,841,840, approximately $16,500,000 is tax-exempt.

Officials at Agnes Irwin explained that the plans for the new school rooms have been made during the war because of crowded conditions and the necessity for some expansion. Construction will begin very soon, they added.

THINKING OUT LOUD

Copyright 1947 by CHARLES A. WRIGHT

We were sitting quietly at home, trying to read our newspaper above the babble of the radio, which the Little Woman always has turned on whether or not she is in the room.

"Why," she asks, "don't you figure out who is Miss Hush?" "Miss Hush," as you know, unless you live holed up in a cave somewhere, is the mysterious woman whose voice in heard each Saturday night on the "Truth and Consequences" program and whose identification by somebody will bring a carload of prizes.

"All my friends are trying it," says the Little Woman. "And you," she adds coyly, "are so clever!"

"Dear," we explain, with that patient tone a man uses toward his wife when he's feeling very superior, "Don't you realize that even if we knew exactly who Miss Hush was, our chances of winning the contest would be about one in a million?"

"Aren't you one in a million?" she says, putting more bait on her hook. "Helen Tomlinson feels sure she is going to win it and I'd hate to have it turn out that she's more clever than you are."

"But, dear!" (We're still awfully patient.) "First of all, you have to send in a letter saying why everybody should support the March of Dimes."

"Well, everybody should support it. And you write such interesting letters."

"And you have to enclose a contribution to the March of Dimes." "Helen Tomlinson sends in a letter every week. And she encloses a dollar each time. She thinks that way it will attract the attention of the judges."

"But think of how many thousands of letters—maybe millions—must come in every week. There are companies that make a business of handling contests for the sponsors. They have employees who do nothing but open the envelopes and take out the entries and the cash or box tops. They have others who read contest entries all day, until they must get sick of looking at them. Suppose our entry was the best. What chance would it have of getting past a preliminary judge who was bored with it all?"

"Helen Tomlinson thinks she has a chance."

"But, dear," (A little less patient this time.) "Suppose our letter was picked by the judges and we were called on the phone. If we were out that night and didn't have a chance to answer we'd feel terrible."

"Helen Tomlinson says she's going out on Saturday nights until the contest is over. She has a bridge party last Saturday night."

"Well, but—look at it this way. Suppose you were home and were called on the phone and asked to identify Miss Hush. You'd get all excited thinking you were going to win all those prizes. But then if you were wrong you'd feel so awful that you would wish you had never entered."

"Yes, but, if your answer was right, think how good you would feel. Please, dear, won't you try; just for me? Miss Hush is coming on the air now. Copy down the clues—"

"Second for Santa Claus. First for me—" says the mysterious voice.

"It would be wonderful to win all those prizes—especially the Buick," says the Little Woman.

"Thirteen for wreath Seven for tree—" the voice continues.

"If we won, we could sell the Buick and buy a Chevy," says the L. W.

"Bring me an auto, a book and a ball," the voice concludes. "And

The marriage of Miss Virginia Ann Lowrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John William Lowrie, of 1474 Braddock Lane, Penn Wynne, to Edward Uhr Smith, Jr., of Narberth, was solemnized Saturday afternoon in the Narberth Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Robert J. Lamont officiated.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was gowning in a model of white satin featuring an illusion yoke neckline, long sleeves ending in a point over wrists, and a full skirt and train. Her fingertip length tiered veil was held by a white satin Juliet cap and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white gardenias with a white orchid.

Mrs. Harold Hanson, serving as matron of honor, wore an aqua moire gown with a drop shoulder neckline, full skirt and matching gloves. Her headpiece matched her bouquet of pink roses.

The bridesmaid, Mrs. Hamilton Scherer, wore a similar gown in American Beauty, with a headpiece of yellow roses and a matching bouquet.

J. Hamilton Scherer, of Narberth, acted as best man and the ushers included John W. Lowrie Jr., brother of the bride; Charles Blaine Clapham, of Narberth, and Carl Leonard Moore, of Germantown. Stephen Charles Scherer was ring bearer.

A small reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony.

NARBERTH SCHOOL NOTES

November 13 and 14, during American Education Week, Narberth Public School welcomed the pupils' parents who came to see their children busy at work. Approximately 150 parents visited the classrooms.

Members of the Narberth School Student Council acted as guides. Narberth School's two third grade classes took a bus trip to the Academy of Natural Science in Philadelphia on Monday afternoon, November 17. A museum representative lectured for the benefit of the children on "The Animals Preparation for Winter." Following slide films pertaining to the subject, the group of 42 children toured the museum.

Thursday afternoon, November 13, Grade 3-1, coached by the group's teacher, Miss Jeanette Dell, presented a playlet entitled, "Ten Little Indians." It was given to help stimulate interest in the Red Feather Community Chest Drive. A striking conclusion to the performance was effected with the throwing of red feathers out over the audience.

November, the theme of the assembly program at Narberth Public School was book week. The members of the library club of which Mr. Ray Shank is in charge, presented oral reports on new and interesting books in the school's large collection. The people who reviewed books and gave short talks about them were: Peggy Offenhausser, "The Mystery of the Other House"; Donald Drain, "Golden Stallion"; Donald Bowers, "Thomas Edison, Boy Inventor"; Snyder, "Bonnie's Boy"; Sally Par-Mike Casey, "Rain Forest"; Ann Riker, "Pat, the Story of a Seeing Eye Dog"; Eleanor Catherman, "Don Marshall Announcer"; Norma Byrd, "Florence Nightingale"; Marguerite Strickler, "The Green Grass of Wyoming"; and Willis Ludwig, "Fur Trapper of the Old West."

Ann Spinnelli, president of the Library Club, made several announcements about the new books, and Sally Parran, secretary, reviewed the library rules with the audience.

The opening exercises were led by Peggy Offenhausser.

ception of a Radnor pass and 28-yard runback to the Raiders' 28 set it up.

Shepard then scampered 16 yards to Radnor's 12. On next try, the same gent battered his way to the three, then found an opening off tackle and knifed to a touchdown. Shaver again booted the point.

Radnor made its only threatening gesture just before the end of the first half, marching to L. M.'s two before the Mattisms hearkened to frantic pleas to "Hold that line!" and took the ball on downs.

During their triumphant march to an unbeaten, untied record, Lower Merion defeated Northeast High 1946 city scholastic champion; Chester, Abington, Norristown, Ridley Township, Haverford High, Overbrook, Easton and Upper Darby. Of these Upper Darby, which bowed by 14-13, and Abington, a 21-14 loser, gave the Aces the greatest difficulty.

Cops Underpaid

ance their household budgets. The answers are not complete, but from those received it is estimated that approximately one-fifth of the men are holding down outside jobs.

Spokesmen for the patrolmen also claim it is more expensive living on the Main Line than most any other place. Although, they say, food costs are as high elsewhere, rents are still higher on the Main Line and in Lower Merion's school system it costs more to keep their children up with the standards set by the children of the "Joneses."

One patrolman with three children contends that every cent of his salary is committed before he receives it, with four quarts of milk a day, eggs at 79 cents a dozen, meat and poultry prices "out of this world" and clothing costs for the children also in higher brackets than ever recorded in the history of the country.

Several other patrolmen report that their wives are working.

When asked how much the newly appointed patrolmen would get Superintendent of Police Samuel Gearhart said:

"Just about half what it takes to live—$2230."

During the past year several patrolmen have resigned to take better paying jobs. Recently, when the township advertised for new men, only one new man answered. The names of the three appointed were already on file as applications at the police station.

Although the questions of police wages and living conditions were discussed at a recent meeting of the Lower Merion Fraternal Order of Police it is not being pressed by this organization but by the local department as a whole.

Services Held for Mrs. Marian Faunce

Dunne for New Business Appeal

the customer. Selling should actually be "telling"—that is, helping the customer to buy.

Dunne told of an interview in Washington with members of the House Small Business Committee. They were overwhelmed with the problems facing small business in an era of rationing and shortages. Dunne told them that these were actually nothing but headaches.

"All we need—either in big business or small business—is the 'know-how' of better management. People should have a place of business with a warm feeling for the people with whom they were involved instead of simply a recollection of having purchased something," he said.

Dunne concluded with a plea for better business relationships between employer and employee, and asserted that they are two corners of a triangle, of which the third is the customer.

"Just remember that no two sides of that triangle can exist without the third," he said.

Preceding Dunne's speech a talk on retail practices was presented by Dana Hull, a member of the staff of "Pathfinder Magazine."

The report of the nominating committee was received and approved, without additions from the floor. The following officers will be voted upon at the meeting in December: for president, Ralph Burke; vice president, Fred Danenhauer, Jr.; secretary, A. M. Fritsch; treasurer, Fred Carter; directors, Nicholas Finora, John Albrecht, Adon Horsely and Harry Halberstadt.

During the discussion period, the problem of printing and distributing a new Business Guide was debated. President Frank Tinker appointed a committee headed by Howard Cotter to present its recommendations at the next meeting.

The Council advanced its December meeting to December 29, to avoid conflict with the Christmas holidays.

Remember?

Remember Thanksgiving at Grandma's? Remember the lordly turkey, crisp and brown, richly lined with two kinds of stuffing? Remember the gravy, too good for a king—and the mountain of mashed potatoes, crowned by a crater of melted butter?

Remember the vegetables from Grandma's own preserve shelf—and the flaky hot biscuits—and the pumpkin pies flecked with nutmeg?

Remember Thanksgiving at Grandma's? Getting that dinner was a giant's task. No watchful electric oven to brown the bird to toothsome perfection—no electric mixer to foam the mashed potatoes to airy lightness—no home freezer to capture the green goodness of vegetables at their flavor-peak. No faithful electric clock to mark the passing hours—no electric switch to flood the table with gay light—no washing machine to churn up suds for the damask cloth—no vacuum cleaner to whisk up crumbs. Yes, and no time-saving dishwasher, either.

Grosholz Wins As Hornets Bow

Haverford College's cross-country team dropped a 27-29 decision to Swarthmore College Thursday, although the Hornets' Jim Grosholz finished a quarter-mile ahead of Ralph Cheney to take individual honors. Grosholz, Middle States 880-yard record holder and Middle Atlantic 1000-meter champion, led almost all the way and successfully withstood Cheney's belated bid on the home stretch. The time was 19:24. It was Haverford's third loss this season and the first triumph in four weeks for Swarthmore.

L. Merion Triumphs

Scoring early in the game and tenaciously clinging to its advantage, Lower Merion High girls' hockey team defeated Cheltenham High 5-1 at Elkins Park, Pa. Pat Miller's goal in the first few seconds proved the deciding margin. In a game between reserves of the two schools, Lower Merion won by an identical 1-0 score. It was Cheltenham's third loss against two victories and four ties this season.

VETS RETAIN COURT LEAD AS BROOKLINE ORIOLES PARE MARGIN TO ONE GAME

By HARRY ELLSWORTH

Lower Merion's Veterans continued to pace the pack in the Main Line Basketball League, but Brookline and Norristown moved within one game of the undefeated Vets as Narberth dropped two games and skidded into fourth place.

The Vets had their closest shave of the season last week when they edged tough Narberth, 48-46, on a slippery floor. Merion High floor, Dark-haired Ace McCann's late field goal decided the game in the Maroon's favor. Coming up this Wednesday will be one of Lower Merion's first big tests of the year. Coatesville will visit the Ardmore gym to take on the Vets. The Steelers, after a poor start, defeated Elkins Park and Jenkintown in their last two games. In both of these games, the uncanny marksmanship of Don Markward featured.

In addition to high-scoring Markward, Coatesville boasts another prolific point-producer in Joe Gilling. The addition of Bill Koehler, recently released at his own request by the Veterans, has greatly strengthened the Steelers' scoring punch.

Another outstanding game this week will be the Thanksgiving night clash between Norristown and Brookline at the Arena. The Brooks and the Orioles are currently tied for second place. With such scorers as Carmen Schaefer and Harry Lobnitz and veterans like Bill Seavey and Jim Coughlin, Herb Good's Mitchell and Ness five will have their hands full. The game will be played as a preliminary to the Warriors-New York B. A. A. affair.

On Friday night, Brookline will again take to the boards, this time against an aroused Wayne team at Radnor. High school stars, including the three-game Monday night schedule next week is Narberth's visit to Haverford Junior High to play Brookline. Narberth will be on the rebound after losses to Norristown and Lower Merion, while the Brooks will be out to improve upon their second-place position. George Gaskill, a rejuvenated veteran, and young Bobby McDermott have paced the Brooks thus far, while Tad Wehmann, Harry Middleton and Jack Kraft have been outstanding for Jiggs Torchiana's fighting Boroughites.

Elkins Park pays a visit to Wayne, with one of the contestants certain to strike the win column for the first time this year. Elkins Park, despite four losses, is a sound ball club and, with experience, could cause plenty of trouble. Norristown plays at Coatesville, Wednesday.

Friday—Brookline at Wayne.

Monday—Narberth at Brookline.

Elkins Park at Wayne, Norristown at Coatesville.

Wednesday—Jenkintown at Lower Merion Veterans.

Thursday—Narberth at Norristown, Coatesville at Jenkintown, Brookline at Elkins Park.

also on Monday, in a contest that pits the youthful Orioles against a veteran Steeler army. This game is a natural, as both clubs are rated among the better teams in the league.

On Wednesday night, the Lower Merion Veterans will be at home again, entertaining Jenkintown in the latter's visit to Lower Merion High. Paul Cutright, Bob Murphy and Joe Disher are the boys that the Vets must watch. The Aces will look to big men like Don Evans, Bill Stewart and Inkie Gallagher to match the Jenks height.

Thursday will see Narberth at Norristown, Coatesville at Jenkintown and Brookline at Elkins Park. All of these games are the second in four-game series. Norristown, Coatesville and Brookline were the victors in the initial games.

Although the standings don't indicate it, observers believe that the Main Line League is better balanced than last year. Wayne, Elkins Park and Jenkintown, although losers of 12 games among them, are basically good teams and should improve as the season progresses.

Don Markward continues to score—and score profusely. The Coatesville forward has collected 92 points in four contests, an average of 23 points per game. Paging Mr. Joe Fuiks!
